Protect your family and the environment!

Heating oil from a leaking tank could pollute the water you drink.

Cleaning up a leak from a residential heating oil tank can cost $20,000 or more while a new tank system costs an average of $2,250.

Qualifying residents can receive up to:

$2,250

to upgrade, or remove and replace an aboveground heating oil storage tank.

Additional funds are available to remove underground tanks.

HUD income levels are used to determine financial eligibility.
